Chamber's president blindsided by Health Care Provider award

Dr. Brett Hines, Chamber of Commerce Health Care Provider of the Year

BY BECKY BARNES, EDITOR

Dr. Brett Hines was a mere six months out of college with the same six months of experience when he was given notice that his predecessor was retiring.

Hines could either buy out Dr. Robert Pretzsch's vision practice or move on.

"It worked out well," said Hines, who was named the 2011 Chamber of Commerce Health Care Provider of the Year.

Sixteen years later, the 43-year-old owner of Cynthiana Vision Center calls Harrison County home.

Hines, who is a native of St. Mary's, Ohio, graduated from The Ohio State University with a bachelor of science in biology. He earned his doctorate in optometry from Southern College of Optometry in Memphis,

He said after being in two larger cities of Columbus and Memphis, he was ready to return to a small town.

"This is a great community," Hines said. Pretzsch recruited Hines from Memphis.

90-count indictment made in church fund theft

BY BECKY BARNES, EDITOR

A 30-year-old Cynthiana man faces a 90-count indictment for charges that date back to January 2010.

Charles Brandon Wilson, one of seven indictments issued Tuesday, is accused of 89 counts of second degree criminal possession of a forged instrument and one count of persistent felony offender.

According to the indictments, Wilson allegedly forged nearly $8,000 in checks taken from Renaker Baptist Church's account with Farmers National Bank over a two-year period.

According to Det. Paul Olin of the Harrison County Sheriff's Department, Wilson had access to the checks through a family member.

Olin said he was approached by the church's minister when it was determined the funds were missing.

Wilson is in custody on unrelated charges. Olin said the new charges will be added to his existing charges.

His bond was set at $5,000. Also in custody on other charges is Anthony Annis, 35, who now faces a three-count indictment in connection with the theft of two lawn mowers owned by the Harrison County Board of Education on Jan. 2 and 14. He is charged with two counts of receiving stolen property over $10,000 and as a persistent felony offender.

Olin said the mowers were valued at $36,000.

Bond for Annis was set at

A six-count indictment was issued against Kevin Southwood, 26.

The grand jury charges Southwood with first degree burglary, two counts of theft by unlawful taking (firearm), theft by unlawful taking ($500 or more but less than $10,000), third degree criminal mischief and persistent felony offender. According to the indictment, Southwood is accused of breaking into a building owned by Larry Nichols between Sept. 18 and 20, 2011, and was armed with a deadly weapon. He is also alleged to have taken a .380 pistol and SKS rifle, both belonging to Nichols. The other charges are the result of the theft of Nichols' property and intentionally damaging his property.

The grand jury also issued single-count indictments against Mark Richardson, 29, and Amber Harney, 30, for second degree unlawful transac-

The Harrison County Fiscal Court met for a second budget workshop to discuss all tabled funding requests.

Planning and Zoning was given $60,000 from the fiscal court in 2011-12.

"We understand that the amount requested is substantially higher than the previous year," said Bear. "However, we at Planning and Zoning are finally moving in the right direction to clean all of the inherited mess that was previously done through the past

Bear and Owen explained the main reason for the increase in the Planning and Zoning bud-

"Bonnie Skinner, who is a vital key to us moving forward, recently was off work part-time due to her having a baby," said Owen. "She currently is only working three days a week and this July we plan on bringing her back to full-time.

Owen and Bear both said Skinner has been approached by other counties with job opportunities. "We don't want to lose her and have to start all over again," said Owen. "It would be in our best interest to bring her back full-time so we can continue to move forward."

Bear added the fact that Planning and Zoning has done everything it can to make the processes more user friendly. 'We now have a very nice website and checklists for those who come into the office wanting to build," said Bear. "The checklists alone have saved us so much headache and time." Owen added that if Planning and Zoning is not funded, fees will have to be raised in order

Harrison County District offers hotline for bullying

BY BEN HYATT, NEWS WRITER

Harrison County is now offering a bullying hotline for all public school students.

As the age of technology changes so does everything else, including the type of bullying that goes on between young adults.

According to Superintendent Andy Dotson, the type of bullying that is causing problems in schools starts outside of the classroom.

"Years ago, bullying was more of a physical problem or simply name calling," said Dotson. "Now with so many types of social networking, the type of bullying has changed to something that is much harder to crack down on."

Dotson said students are now using "cyber bullying" as a way of "talking down" fellow classmates.

"It is so dehumanizing," said Dotson. "Before all the new technology, kids simply confronted one another when they were bullying and now kids are posting it on facebook for everyone to read."

Dotson said due to the alarming number of serious issues that result from bullying in and out of schools, Harrison County saw a need to be proactive in eliminating any potential problems bullying could cause.

"Bullying can play a role in the conflict between individuals and in some cases more serious issues," said Dotson. "You watch the news and see all the outbreaks and shootings from kids and it usually is always traced back to bullying."

Dotson said in order to eliminate the cases of serious retaliation, everyone must be alerted of the problems that bullying can cause.

"It becomes personal strikes against individuals which creates mental uneasiness for them," said Dotson. "By raising awareness in the schools, we will hopefully raise awareness at homes where bullying can still take place."

Director of facilities and school safety David Case said a cellphone number will be available for students to call or text information to crack down on bullying. "Communication is crucial," said Case. "With this hotline, students can give us tips anonymously on potential bullying problems that they see at anytime."

Case said unfortunately adult supervision cannot always be present, so help from the students becomes even more important in cracking down on bullies.

"The cellphone is located at central office and is monitored all day everyday for calls and texts," said Case. "If anyone witnesses bullying taking place, whether it be on the bus or through any form of social networking, we want to be notified of it."

Case and Dotson both agreed that the hotline will more than likely be used by students to give information to school personnel rather than to be used as an actual hotline.

"We will probably receive more calls alerting us of problems rather than talking to someone about bullying," said Dotson. "That is not to say that we will not be ready to talk students through bullying situations."

Dotson said usually after school personnel is alerted of potential bullying, a simple sit down session is all it takes to clear-up any issues between students.

"If we get a tip that someone is writing or tweeting something about someone, all we have to do is look for ourselves online," said Dotson. "If it is serious enough, we bring both parties in with their parents and it usually ends there."

Case and Dotson said they encourage anyone with any tips to contact the private cell number and should do so in knowing that all calls are confidential and will result in no retaliation against the callers.

The Harrison County Bullying

Hotline number is 1-859-588-8081. More information about the bullying hotline can be found on Harrison County's School home page.

"Please understand that all calls are taken seriously and are monitored," said Dotson. "Any form of prank texting or calling will not be tolerated."

Community Action will continue Head Start program

Community Action's Head Start Program will still be offered to the families of Harrison County.

Despite Harrison County School Districts beginning a new pre-K program for children, Community Action has decided to still offer a Head Start Program for children not age appropriate for kindergarten. According to a press release by Community Action, all Harrison County children will have access to a five-day week pre-school instruction. School hours for Head Start will begin at 6 a.m. and run until 6 p.m. or until parents are able to pick their children up.

Head Start Program for

"Our child development program operates at the highest standards and we always put families first," said Lori Furnish, Harrison County center manager at Community Action Council. "We know parents don't get a day off so we won't be taking off for record's days, spring break, or also remain open for the summer for those parents who still need those services all year."

Community Action will offer full-day instruction as well as breakfast and lunch for all enrolled students. Transportation will also be provided for those who need it.

According to Community Action

Council, 164 children are currently being served in Harrison County.

According to the press release, the federally supported program has a history of proven results with 90 percent of the 92 Harrison County children assessed in 2010-11 program found to be ready for kindergarten by state approved assessments.

On an average, 90 percent of children in the council's program have been ready for kindergarten each year in Harrison County according to Kentucky standards.

According to the Council, teacher credentials are the same as state-funded programs with more than 70 years of combined years of teaching experience.

"Each teacher currently in the program has at least 15 years of experience while also holding all necessary certifications and credentials maintained by other local programs," according to the release.

Families who enroll their child in the Head Start program are able to work with the Council staff members to ensure children receive vision. speech and hearing screening as well as physical and dental exams and all needed follow-up

"Children with identified special needs also receive expert attention at no cost to the families," states the press release.

Head Start families are also given access to an array of different safety and self-sufficiency opportunities through Community Action including clothing and food referrals, energy assistance, home weatherization and Financial Fitness consumer educa-

Head Start locations currently include the Community Center located on Old Lair Road and Terrace Park Child Development Center.

"We are in Harrison County to stay," said Jack Burch, executive director at the Community Action Council. "We look forward to settling into some new locations in the upcoming months and eventually expanding our services in Harrison County to ensure we continue to meet the community needs.'

The Commission on Aging has submitted a request for $25,000 for 2012-13, which is an increase of $5,500 from the previous year.

"I love Hospice because they do a terrific job and I plan to continue donating to them," said Magistrate Brad Marshall. "But they are showing a nearly two million dollar profit and I think that $5,000 could be used somewhere else.'

It was also noted that Project Lead the Way would not be asking its usual $10,000 due to a surplus of funds.

Finally, the personnel committee submitted its recommendation for salaries to the court.

"The CPI (consumer price index) increase this year is 2.9 percent," said Magistrate William Fritz. "However, it is the recomtee that we give all county employees, minus our part time help and three additional county employees, a 50 cent increase on the hour.' Fritz said the three

It was the consensus of the court that the salary increase would pass in this year's budget.

The first reading of the 2012-13 budget will be conducted on May 8, and will be sent to Frankfort the day after should the court vote to approve it as read.

Even one is too many incidents of child abuse

We can no longer turn our heads and claim that we don't want to get involved. Get involved!

According to the KY Multi-County Task Force on Child Abuse,

Becky Barnes

five children in Harrison County were sexually abused in 2010.

Five.

That's five children whose childhood memories have been shattered by the ugliness of

There were also five children who were confirmed to have been physically abused.

Children are so incredibly trusting of everyone it's sad to think that the childhood trust of even one child is stolen.

Another staggering figure from that 2010 report is that 32 Harrison County kids were victims of neglect.

Thirty-two.

Is anyone else sickened by those statistics? You cannot look at those numbers and say "I don't want to get involved."

Because I gather the police records every week. I see where numerous people have decided to get involved.

Even if their reports end up being unfounded, they at least had officials check out the children to make sure they were OK.

These officials would much rather leave a home where the child was fine than to be dispatched to a horrific abuse scene.

Officers have repeatedly said that the worst part of their job is anything involving a

April is Child Abuse Prevention Month. Harrison County's statistics are way too high. However, statewide numbers are even more staggering.

At the Community Education Center on the Hilltop, a portion of the lawn has been devoted to the Pinwheels for Prevention campaign. Each pinwheel represents a child who was abused in Kentucky. Statewide in 2010, there were 19,500 children who were abused. Those are substantiated cases for an average of 55 children abused during one day.

The key to prevention is to recognize that there is a growing problem.

And then, reach out.

There are plenty of ways to help with the movement. Some suggestions from the Prevent Child Abuse Ky. organization

•Be a friend to a parent you know. If a parent seems to be struggling, offer to baby-sit or run errands or just lend a friendly ear;

·Be a friend to a child or children you know. Remember their names; smile when you talk to them; ask about their day at school; send them a card in the mail;

•Talk to your neighbors about looking out for one another's children. Encourage a supportive spirit among parents in your neighborhood:

•Donate your used clothing to places like the Cynthiana Clothing Closet to help families who might be struggling financially; or food to the Harrison County Food Pantry.

These forms of assistance may ease some of the stresses at home. •Give your time and money for activities that support and serve the needs of children and families. ·Encourage adults who are struggling to seek assistance. Tell them about

House, senate supports spending plan

When the General Assembly began the 2012 Regular Session in January, there was little doubt what its biggest challenge would be: writing a two-year budget that could continue meeting the state's critical needs in light of previous cuts totaling more than a billion dollars.

On Friday evening, after weeks of discussion and several late nights working on a compromise, the House and Senate put its support behind a spending plan that will go a long way to achieving that goal. Even before final negotiations began, both chambers had already agreed in large measure with the budget Governor Beshear presented in the session's opening days. My legislative colleagues and I agree that, like any family during tough times, we must live within our means, and that we must limit debt as much as possible while still investing in those areas that will pay dividends long into the As a result, this budget has no tax increases but no raises, either. With few exceptions, all three branches of government are taking the same 8.4 percent cut next fiscal year, which begins in July, and then maintaining that level of spending in the budget's second year. The exceptions include classroom funding, which have shielded as

much as possible during this economic downturn, and other such areas as Medicaid, corrections, financial aid for college students, local prosecutors and services for veterans. Our social workers will actually see an increase in both money and staffing, in an effort to reduce the heavy caseloads they now have.

Last year's major reforms of Medicaid and our criminal justice system are beginning to show the financial savings we had hoped for. In Medicaid, that totals more than $300 million, while savings in corrections will allow us to give $9 million to counties to help with their jail costs and to use nearly $7 million to boost substance abuse programs many of our state prisoners need.

The budget includes a little more than $1 million to expand the veterans nursing home in Western Kentucky and gives approval to go ahead with a new veterans nursing home - which would be the state's fourth – if the federal government approves. There is additional assistance for both the Kentucky Horse Park and the Kentucky Fair Board, which has been hit hard because of such things as the closure of the Kentucky Kingdom amusement park in Louisville. Design work for renovating Rupp Arena can continue as well, and our state parks will get $6 million for additional maintenance.

In agricultural matters, there are no cuts in the 164 slots available for Kentucky students wanting to become veterinarians. Because Kentucky doesn't have its own veterinary school, the state helps cover out-of-state tuition costs for students who want to join that profession. The budget also includes

$4 million to lay the groundwork for replacing a veterinary center in Western Kentucky. This center, like the one at the University of Kentucky, plays a critical role in protecting our farm animals from disease. In another matter, the House and Senate didn't hesitate to help victims of the March 2nd tornadoes. Those affected by these storms - including those in Pendleton and Campbell counties – will now be able to get a rebate on the sales tax paid for purchases building materials. Schools in these areas will also not lose any funding because of days they had affect our region directly,

Although it doesn't the budget also lays the groundwork for a new scholarship program that will help students in coal-producing counties obtain their four-year college degree. The money will come from coal-severance dollars these counties receive for economic development projects. While the budget is now awaiting Gov. Beshear's signature, there is still some work left to be done on the legislative session's last day, April 12. Normally, we would use that time just to consider any vetoes the governor might issue, but we will also finalize our road plan that day and, hopefully, give final approval to a major initiative that would limit prescription drug abuse.

In addition to the budget, there were numerous other accomplishments this legislative session, but I will have to detail those in a later column. In the meantime, I appreciate those who have contacted me this legislative session to let me know their views. If you would like to do that, no mat-ter what time of the year, my address is Room 332B, Capitol Annex, 702 Capitol Avenue, Frankfort, KY You can also leave a

Calvary Assembly of God names new minister/worship leader

Tampa native, Mike Barres, has been named the new senior pastor of Calvary Assembly of Barres, like most pastors, got his start near the area where he grew-up before venturing out into the unknown to spread the word of God to all who will listen.

"In the summer of 1978, I took a youth pastor position in Tampa, Fla.," said Barres. "I was there for about nine years before I felt called to move."

Barres, a graduate from South Eastern Bible College in southern Florida, double majored in music and Bible teach-

"I have always had a great appreciation for music," said Barres. "It is a great way to connect."

After nine years of service in Tampa, Barres decided to follow a calling that took him all the way to Andrews, N.C., to serve as a senior pastor.

"I most recently served at a church in Andrews for the past 10 years,' said Barres. "It was a small rural town similar to Cynthiana, which is why I suppose it has been easy growing attached to my new home.

Barres said after leaving his church in North Carolina, he began to search for a different church home.

"I was searching the different Assembly of God churches and found one in Harrison County that was currently seeking a new pastor," said Barres. "I added my name to the registry and thev called me for an interview.

After a series of trial sermons, Barres was named the new pastor of Calvary Assembly of God on Feb. 26.

"Not that it really matters, but I was the first pastor in the church's history to receive a 100 percent vote," said Barres. "That to me shows that I am in the right place.'

position of senior pastor, Barres and his wife Betty have done their best to become very involved inside and out of the church.

"Betty is my secretary," said Barres. "Some say not to work with your spouse, but we bring out the best in one another and it shows at work."

Barres is also serving as the church's worship leader every Sunday.

"As I said, music is very important to me," said Barres. "We try to find something, whether it be contemporary or traditional, that everyone can find uplifting when we worship together."

As far as fitting in with the rural life of Harrison County, Barres said no

"We love the country life," said Barres. "We have some land where we are staying where we see deer and can fish, which are bonuses for me.'

Barres said a number of factors played in the decision process when making the move to Calvary Assembly of God.

A main point of interest was the strong youth program that is offered at the church.

"Children are our future," said Barres. "Any church that puts emphasis on the growing of youth is making a necessary investment in my opinion."

Along with a strong youth program, Barres said he sees great potential for the church family in the form of reaching out to the community, especially to those who are struggling.

"I want our church to be there for those who are struggling and those who have yet to submit to Christ," said Barres. "In reality, I think all churches should join together in the quest for introducing our Savior to all who do not know him."

Barres said he like to think of his preaching style as being practical, relational, relevant and Biblical.

Barres pointed out that he never wants a congregation to feel as if he is preaching at them.

"I never set-out to preach at anyone," said Barres. "I simply deliver God's message.'

Barres shared his hopes for the transformation of lives and prayers of people living more daily walk with Christ. "I hope we can use

Bible studies to breakdown scriptures so we can see how our Lord wants us to live each day," said Barres. "It is right before us and all we have to do is listen to what He has said.'

Calvary Assembly of God is located at 325 Webster Ave, across from Harrison County High enough frosting into bag to fill halfway. Unfold cuffed top and twist bag until it meets level of frosting in bag, To pipe, hold bag firmly and squeeze from top of bag, keeping bag twisted to prevent frosting from leaking out from top of bag. If you don't have a pastry bag, you can use a resealable plastic bag instead. Spoon frosting into bag, then cut piece off one corner of bag. Twist top of bag as directed, then use to pipe frosting onto cupcakes.

Cinnamon Rolls

- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 cups all-purpose flour 2 1/4 teaspoons active dry yeast
- 1/4 cup white sugar
- 3 tablespoons softened butter
- 3/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/3 cup white sugar
- 1/3 cup raisins (optional)
- 1/3 cup chopped walnuts (optional)
- 1 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1 1/2 tablespoons melted butter
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 1/2 tablespoons milk

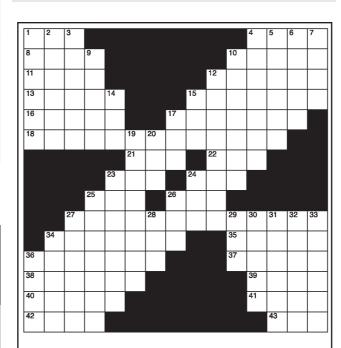

In saucepan, heat 1/2 cup milk, water, and 2 tablespoons butter until very warm. Place milk mixture, salt, flour, yeast, sugar, and eggs in the pan of the bread machine in the order suggested by the manufacturer. Select the Dough cycle. Press Start.

Once Dough cycle is complete, remove the dough from the bread machine and punch down. On a floured surface, roll into a large rectangle. Smear with the softened butter. Combine the cinnamon and 1/3 cup sugar. Sprinkle over the rectangle. Generously sprinkle the raisins and/or chopped nuts over the top.

Roll the dough up into a log starting at the long side. Cut into 12 slices. Place the rolls cut side down into a 9x13-inch greased baking pan. Cover, and let rise in a warm place until almost doubled, about 30 minutes.

Preheat an oven to 375° F (190°C). Combine the confectioners' sugar, 1.5 tablespoons melted butter, vanilla extract, and 1.5 tablespoons milk into a thick frosting; set aside.

Bake rolls in preheated oven until golden, 20 to 25 minutes. Remove and allow to cool 10 minutes. Spread frosting over baked rolls and enjoy.

Lions Club hosts annual Youth Day for HCHS elected officials

Thirty-eight Harrison County High School students served with local elected officials in county and city government during its annual Youth Day on March 27, 2012.

In preparation for Youth Day, HCHS students sought election to local public service offices, and engaged in a spirited campaign, seeking votes from fellow students. The election process was followed by a school-wide vote and high school voter registration drive, where approximately 200 students registered to vote in the upcoming May primary and November general elections.

Sponsored by the Cynthiana Lions Club, students had an opportunity to shadow agencies such as district, circuit, and family court judges county and commonwealth attorney, county magistrate and city commission, as well as other service agencies such as police, fire, sheriff, jailer, and coroner. Students spent the morning with the individual officers throughout the county, retiring to a luncheon and guest speaker at the Cynthiana Country Club, and concluded the day with meetings and discussions in the Commissioner's room downtown at City Hall. The guest speaker for the luncheon was Judge David Melcher. For participating students, the day was filled with nervous excitement.

"I was hoping to get out in the community and really get 'hands on' with what these county officials do everyday," said HCHS Senior Eric Watts regarding his experience with Youth Day. "I know it will be a great experi-

One such group was engaged in a mock fiscal court meeting, where students discussed some of the issues that Harrison County officials face every day. The meeting was moderated by County Judge-Executive Alex Barnett, County Clerk Linda Furnish, and Magistrates Larry Wells, Missy Lutz, and Paula Taylor.

Other student groups were out in the community learning the skills of public office.

Senior Eddie Hamilton said, "I had a great time with Sheriff Hampton today. I had no idea he did so much for our county.'

HCHS senior Cynthia Neace, shadowing Harrison County Board of Education member Mary June Brunker and Superintendent Andy Dotson, remarked "...they have so much to do and to still have time to visit the schools every day, it's pretty incredible.

HCHS students Katelyn Wiglesworth and Kristina Noble commented on the consolidated offices of the County Clerk, commenting "It can be overwhelming at times, having three offices in one building. We enjoyed the day; it was very worthwhile, and something we won't soon forget."

Faculty sponsor, Josh Powers, commented on the value of Youth Day in Harrison County, wishing to express his tremendous gratitude to the Lions Club for their partnership with so many young students.

"Youth Day is one of the great and long-standing traditions of our community, dating back over 60 years. It is a real testament to this community, its leadership and the school system," said Powers. "So many young minds have been positively impacted by this program, and we hope the finest among them will return to serve as leaders and public servants in Cynthiana and Harrison

In fact, many former Youth Day participants serve in our public offices right now. It is a wonderful institution, and HCHS simply could not participate in this program without the allegiance and sponsorship of our friends at Lions.'

Harrison County Elementary Academic League

The Harrison County Elementary Academic League just completed the third year of competition by hosting a double elimination tournament on March 24. The tournament, held at Indian Creek Christian Church, was well attended by parents, grandparents and school personnel all celebrating the academic growth of these talented young people.

Eastside Elementary placed first in the tournament, with Northside, Westside, and Southside finishing second through fourth in the order they are listed. The teams received trophies and individual medals. The children participated in six scrimmages and a mid-year round robin tournament during the year as well.

The intramural quick recall league was established by Superintendent Andy Dotson during his second year of tenure in order to provide a venue for academic growth and competition between the four elementary schools.

USDA reminds producers of approaching CRP sign-up deadline

Landowners, farmers ranchers are reminded that the opportunity to enroll in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) general sign-up 43 ends on Friday, April 6. Producers who want to offer eligible land for CRP's competitive general sign-up may enroll at the Farm Service Agency (FSA) county office, 103 Rodgers Park Dr., where their farm records are

CRP is a voluntary program available to agricultural producers to help them use environmentally sensitive land conservation benefits. Producers enrolled in CRP plant long-term, resource-conserving covers to improve the quality of water, control soil erosion and develop wildlife habitat. In return, USDA provides participants with rental payments and cost-share assistance. Contract duration is between 10 and 15 years. Producers with expiring contracts and producers with environmentally sensitive land are encouraged to evaluate their options under CRP.

CRP has a 25-year legacy of successfully protecting the nation's natural resources through voluntary participation, while providing significant economic and environmental benefits to rural communities across the United States. Currently, about 30 million acres are enrolled in CRP.

CRP continues to make major contributions to national efforts to improve water and air quality, prevent soil erosion by protecting the most sensitive areas including those prone to flash flooding and runoff. At the same time, CRP has helped increase populations of pheasants, quail, ducks, and other rare species, like the sage grouse, the lesser prairie chicken, and others. Highlights of CRP include:

· CRP has restored more than two million acres of wetlands and two million acres of riparian buffers:

· Each year, CRP keeps more than 600 million pounds of nitrogen and more than 100 million pounds of phosphorous from flowing into our nation's streams, rivers, and lakes.

• CRP provides $1.8 billion annually to landowners-dollars that make their way into local economies, supporting small businesses and creating jobs; and · CRP is the largest private lands carbon sequestration program in the country. By placing vulnerable cropland into conservation, CRP sequesters carbon in plants and soil, and reduces both fuel and fertilizer usage. In 2010, CRP resulted in carbon sequestration equal to taking almost 10 million cars off the road.

In 2011, USDA enrolled a record number of acres of private working lands in conservation programs, working with more than 500,000 farmers and ranchers to implement conservation practices that clean the air we breathe, filter the water we drink, and prevent soil erosion. Moreover, the Obama Administration, with Agriculture Secretary Vilsack's leadership, has worked tirelessly to strengthen rural America, implement the Farm Bill, maintain a strong farm safety net, and create opportunities for America's farmers and ranchers. U.S. agriculture is currently experiencing one of its most productive periods in American history thanks to the productivity, resiliency, and resourcefulness of our producers.

Producers are encouraged to contact the FSA service center or visit www.fsa.usda.gov/ crp for additional information regarding CRP.

Did you know that azaleas and rhododendrons are essentially the same thing? They are both members of the rhododendron genus; they have similar blooms and similar cultural requirements.

Some say the primary difference between the two is the number of pollenbearing stamens: rhods have 10 or more per flower and azaleas have only five.

The rhododendron genus is divided into five main groups: Large-leaf rhods; small-leaf rhods; Vireya rhods; deciduous azaleas; and evergreen azaleas. The latter two are our primary concern here.

While most azaleas like protection from winter winds and the afternoon summer sun, several thrive out in the open, in full-sun and a western exposure. Not the dainty bush you thought you knew.

For areas with full-sun, you can plant the deciduous native azalea, rhododendron calendulaceum, also known as the flame azalea because of the orange blossoms.

There is a yellow variant, but it is a little more difficult to find.

Several Exbury azalea hybridsthrive infull-sun as well, including "Gibraltar" and "Klondyke." Both are deciduous, reaching about five feet in spread and height. "Gibraltar" has crimson-orange buds that open to orange flowers and "Klondyke" has red buds that open to orange-gold blossoms.

Evergreen azaleas are often used as foundation plants around homes.

When evergreen types are planted in full-sun, they maintain better fall and winter foliage color therefore they are desirable for front landscapes.

Some evergreen azaleas that tolerate or prefer full-sun include the pink flowering "Coral Bells." which reaches about five feet in spread and height; and the semi-dwarf, pinktinge, yellow flowering "Mary Fleming" that only reaches about 30 inches in

If you have an eastern exposure, most azaleas will perform very well in your front landscapes, just watch the soil pH because concrete foundations leech lime which will lower the acidity of the soil.

Azaleas are acid-loving plants that prefer a soil pH between 5 and 6. Rich, well-drained soil is ideal, of course, with adequate moisture.

Azaleas are shallow rooted so avoid cultivating around the plant and keep the soil moist. A one to two inch layer of pine straw mulch will help keep weeds down and moderate the soil moisture and temperature, as the pine straw decomposes it will add to the acidity of the soil to a

If you need to prune to contain the size or to thin the shrub do so right after the shrub finishes blooming in late spring.

Next year's blooms will develop throughout the summer. Dead-heading is another good practice to help maintain azaleas.

Azalea lace bugs can also stress the plants out. These small pests feed on the underside of the leaves leaving a speckled effect behind; leaf-miners leave little trailings on the foliage; and spidermites cause the yellowing of leaves as they suck the plant juices.

These insect pests reduce the vigor of the plant and mar the appearance of the foliage. Neem oil will also work on these pests as will any light summer horticultural oil.

Local KY-ASAP Board receives award

The Kentucky Office of Drug Control Policy and the Kentucky Agency Substance Abuse Policy has awarded the Bourbon-Harrison Local KY-ASAP Board the 10-Year Celebration and Achievement award for outstanding accomplishments in providing substance abuse education, prevention, treatment and law enforcement initiatives for the past 10 years.

The award was presented Thursday, March 1 at the 1st Presbyterian Church, 517 Pleasant St., Paris, Ky.

The Kentucky Agency for Substance Abuse Policy was created in 2000 to develop a strategic plan to reduce the prevalence of alcohol, tobacco and other drug use among youth and adult populations in Kentucky and coordinate efforts among state and local agencies in the area of substance abuse prevention. The agency was placed under the Office of Drug Control Policy in 2004. "The local boards have become an excellent local community tool and much needed component in educating, preventing, treatment and enforcing substance abuse issues, Van Ingram, Executive Director of ODCP.

He added that local KY-ASAP boards work with their respective communities to help implement policy and ordinance changes to reduce the prevalence of tobacco, alcohol and other drugs.

During SFY 2011 local boards received more than $1.6 million in state and federal funds to implement their efforts.

There are 75 local KY-ASAP boards that covet 113 of 120 counties in the Commonwealth. Sixteen of these boards are regional and consist of two or more counties that have joined efforts to address substance abuse issues, affecting their area. The local boards consist of stakeholders in each county or multicounty jurisdiction.

For more information on KY-ASAP contact Amy.Andrews@ky.gov or visit www.odcp.ky.gov.

Breds end streak, rout St. Henry 11-1 in five innings

Senior Josh Young gets in the dirt at home plate Tuesday. The Breds hosted St. Henry High and won 11-1 in five innings.

Heading to South Carolina for the Hanahan National Invitational Tournament

A two-game losing streak isn't much for many teams, but it seems much longer to the Harrison County High School baseball program.

Add to the scenario that the steak came after six straight wins on the road and it is even more unlikely.

That is all in the past now as the Thorobreds got back on track Tuesday night beating St. Henry's Crusaders 11-1 in five innings.

The game started poorly for the Breds as starting pitcher Justin Nutter was wild in the beginning walking the first two batters and throwing a wild pitch. After the walks, Harrison County turned a double play before Elliott Ringo drummed a double scoring Brandon Schwarter. That was to be the end of the Crusader's run production though as Nutter settled down to pitch the remaining four innings and gave up only one more hit while striking out three. Harrison County also committed only one error Tuesday night

backing up Nutter's pitching perfor-

The Thorobreds scored two runs in the second when John King singled for the first of his three hits on the night, stole second, advanced to third on a ground out and scored on Cody Honeycutt's single. Honeycutt then went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Xavier Carter's single.

This gave Harrison County the 2-1 lead after two complete innings. In the third inning, the Breds broke the game open with six runs on three hits and three big Crusader errors all after two were out.

Brandon Kendall walked with two gone and scored on John King's triple. The hurler, Nutter, then was hit by a pitch and advanced to second on Paul Jones RBI single.

Honeycutt again singled home a run and both he and Jones came around to score on a series of passed balls and errors by the Crusaders.

This big inning made the score 8-1.

The fourth inning saw three more Thorobreds runs on a single by Jordan Riley, and doubles by King and Jordan Martin sandwiched around a walk to Kendall for the final 11-1 score.

Harrison County improved to 7-2 with the win while St. Henry drops to 4-3-1. The Thorobreds were to host Garrard County (3-6) Wednesday and Mason County (3-5-1) on Thursday before heading south to South Carolina for the Hanahan National Invitational Tournament.

This event begins on Monday, April 9.

Breds edge Scott High in eight innings, drop two at home

After playing solid defensively for six straight victories, the Harrison County Thorobreds gave up 10 unearned runs in two games losing two straight at home after defeating Scott High on Thursday night, 3-1, in eight innings.

The Breds dropped a 12-9 decision to Covington Holy Cross on Friday and then returned to the diamond Saturday to lose to Grant County, 7-4.
At Scott on Thursday, junior hurler

Jordan Martin continued his masterful pitching going seven innings and giving up just one unearned run. Martin struck out 10 Eagles, walking only two while allowing four base hits.

The game was scoreless through the first five and one half innings until Scott scored one in the bottom of the sixth. In this at bat, Reed Spata singled with one out, advanced to third after a strike out and a walk and scored on an error.

The Thorobreds responded in the top of the seventh with a Cody Honeycutt single, a sacrifice by John King and a single by Xavier Carter, which pushed the game to extra innings.

The Eagles threatened in the bottom half when Josh Castleman walked and

They deserve the accolades that are coming their way and will for the most part reap huge rewards when they go on to the next step in their professional career.

How about the National Anthem before the championship game? I don't think it was the worst rendition I have ever heard, but it is in the top three.

The worst was Rose Ann Barr at a Padre's game some time ago. Unfortunately, she did it badly on purpose for the notoriety, which is a

Jose Feliciano butchered the song before an all-star game one time when he decided to take poetic license with the melody and the words.

Generally, that is the case when an entertainer decides that the 200-yearold song needs his special touch to be a good anthem.

Feliciano was the first one that I recall doing it, or at least the first on national television.

Combine a very diflack of talent and a general disregard for the American way and you get what we had Monday night.

Personally, I would rather hear some of the young singers that have graced the high school gym with their talent. They have, in every case, done a better job than what we get on television.

Of course, so would a group of frogs sitting around a pond.

Fillies ice the Lady Bears in six Tuesday

It was an 11-1 night on the Hilltop as the Harrison County Fillies joined the Breds in defeating their opponent 11-1 in varsity action.

The Fillies defeated Bracken County at Shirley Field in a game that was very similar to the action taking place on the adjacent baseball diamond.

Bracken County scored in the top of the first off starter Tracey Hicks to take an early 1-0 lead. Hicks and Jami Davis combined for the next five innings to shut the Lady Bears offense down.

The Fillies' hitting attack was led by senior Emalee Little, juniors Ashley Coppage and Morgan Florence and eighth grader Kecia Stephens. The victory gives the Fillies a 3-1-1 record heading into next Friday and Saturday's tournament in Clarksville, Tenn. Bracken County's record is level at 5-5 following the

Thorobreds third, Fillies fourth in Montgomery meet

BY MIKE ALDRIDGE, SPORTS WRITER

The Harrison County track team continued to find success in the early meets this spring as both the Fillies and Thorobreds finished near the top in the Montgomery County Invitational Track Meet.

The 12-team field was made up of AAA, AA and A teams with only the AAA teams besting the Harrison County athletes.

The Fillies' fourth place finish was behind Henry Clay, Woodford County and Bryan Station in this meet as Henry Clay won the meet by only three points over Woodford County.

The Fillies were led by sophomore Haley Carr who finished second in both the 100M and the 300M hurdles.

The 1600M relay team of Hannah Thomas, Carr, Jessica Alas and Kinsey Lesak also was second in 4:33.9, which was a 5-second improvement over their previous best time.

Thomas was third in the 400M dash, Caylin Mattox was third in the 100M hurdles and both the 3200M relay team and the 800M relay team finished third. Mia Lail was fourth in the 100M hurdles as the Fillies were dominant in the short hurdle distance. Natasha Ingram took home fourth place in both the shot put and the discus in her first outdoor meet of the young season. Coach Danny Simpson was encouraged by how well

Bryan Station won the meet followed by Henry Clay and the Thorobreds.

Junior Daniel Klapheke was the only individual winner for Harrison County taking the 110M hurdles in :16.21 seconds. The 3200M relay team of Joe Thomas, Grant Carr, Nick Slucher and Tyler Martin also was first as they came within just a few seconds of the school record in the event. The Thorobreds continue to be strong in the relays as both the 1600M team and the 800M relay team finished second.

Newcomer Mike Jones was second in the discus and third in the shot put as he continues to learn the craft.

Elijah Gross was third in the triple jump while Jeffrey Faulkner finished third in the 1600M run.

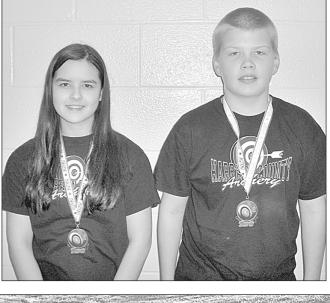

Fourth place ribbons went to the 400M relay team, Brandon Clarke in the 400M, Mason Ritchie in the high jump and Taylor Bolin in the pole vault.

Dominic Walker was fifth in the shot put, Carr was fifth in the 3200M Thomas finished fifth in the 800M run, and Klapheke took the fifth spot in the 300M hurdles to add to the Thorobreds point total. The next meet for the

Harrison County squad will be this Thursday at the Athletic Complex. The Harrison County

ARCHERY. Members of the Harrison County Archery team competed in the Region 7 Shoot Out at Western Hills High School in Frankfort on March 24. Those receiving medals were HCMS sixth grader Matthew McCarty. He was first in the boys Elementary Division with a score of 279 out of a possible 300. Macy Robles, HCMS seventh grader, was first in the Middle School Division with a score of 291.

Fillies roll past Lady Knights, shut out Rowan County

BY MIKE ALDRIDGE, SPORTS WRITER The Harrison County

Fillies beat Lexington Catholic 4-1 last Wednesday afternoon on Shirley Field as Tracey Hicks allowed only five base hits striking out five as she pitched a complete game. The Fillies scored in the first when Morgan Grose reached on an error and scored on Ashley Coppage's single.

The Lady Knights tied the game in the fourth when Moronde singled, advanced on an error by the shortstop and first baseman and scored on a fielder's choice.

The fifth inning was pivotal as the Fillies scored three runs on only two hits. After Davis grounded out to short, center fielder Emalee Little reached first on an error by the Lexington Catholic pitcher and Grose walked to put runners on first and second with one out.

Morgan Florence flied to right for the second out before Coppage doubled driving in Little and Grose for a 3-1 Fillies' lead.

Coppage moved to third on Hicks' single and she scored when the center fielder misplayed Lucy Boyer's fly ball.

Sydney Motell hit to the mound to end the inning but the Fillies had a commanding 4-1 lead.

Moronde led off the sixth with her second single of the game but was erased on a pitcher-to-short-tofirst double play.

Landry flied to center to end the sixth and Hicks set the Lady Knights down in order in the seventh for the Fillies first win of the season.

The loss left Lexington Catholic with a 6-3 record.

Coppage had two of the four Fillies hits and drove in three runs to lead Harrison County. Thursday the Rowan County Lady Vikings rolled onto the Hilltop for a varsity only meeting with the Fillies.

One of the more highly thought of teams in the 16th Region, Rowan County sported a 3-2 record at the start of the game.

The Fillies were dominant from the start in this game as after the visitors were limited to one hit in the top of the first, Harrison County began the bottom of the inning with six straight hits and four runs before an out was made.

Harrison County batted around in the first leaving the bases loaded before lead off batter Grose flied to center for the last out of the stanza.

The Fillies scored one more run in the second on three hits again leaving the bases full. The third inning was another big one as Harrison County picked up three more runs on five hits for the 8-0 final score.

One issue for the Fillies on this night was runners left on base.

Despite scoring eight mes, the Harrison County girls left a whopping 14 runners stranded on the night. Tracey Hicks again started on the mound but gave way to Jami Davis in the third. The pair gave up only struck out six. The win improved the Fillies to 2-1-Fillies Coach Christine Garnett was happy with the progress her team is four hits, walked one and making. "Both days were good team wins," she noted. "Defensively we made the routine plays and we are getting more aggressive at the plate."

advanced to second on a sacrifice bunt. However, fanned both Martin Brenden Wells and Aaron Smith to end the threat.

The Breds struck for two in the top of the eighth when Martin led off with a single and advanced to third on an error and a passed ball.

After a strike out, iunior Brandon Kendall doubled Martin home for a 2-1 lead. Back-to-back singles by Honeycutt and Paul Jones scored Kendall and the Breds led after seven and one half innings, 3-1.

Carter pitched the bottom of the eighth striking out three batters to seal the Breds sixth win against zero losses. Scott High's loss gave them a 3-3 record. Honeycutt, Jones and Martin led the Breds with two hits each.

Friday afternoon was the home opener for Harrison County as they played host to the Covington Holy Cross Indians.

The 9th Region school came into the contest with a 2-1 record while the Thorobreds were sporting a perfect 6-0 mark.

Kendall started the game for the Thorobreds and sat down the Indians in the first facing the minimum three batters.

After the Breds went down on one hit in the first, an omen of things to come showed up in the top of the second when an error allowed the first batter to reach first base and Holy Cross scored twice in the inning. Harrison County roared back with back-to-back home runs by Hunter Hill and John King to lead off the bottom of the second. The Thorobreds scored five runs in total in this inning on seven hits as Kendall, Zach Royce and Martin each doubled to give Harrison County the 5-2 lead.

Holy Cross got two of the runs back when Blake Tiberie led off the third with a homer followed by a walk, a stolen base and a single to make the score The Breds failed to score in their half of the third leaving the single run margin to carry into the fourth.

Holy Cross racked up five big runs in the top of the fourth on a lead-off walk, four hits and two big Harrison County miscues.

The Breds rallied again to score three times in the bottom of the inning on a Royce home run following a Carter single and a hit batsman coming around

The 9-8 score unchanged until the sixth when the Indians scored another unearned run on two hits and two more errors by the Breds making the count 10-8.

A two-run home run by Kyle Fuller in the seventh made it 12-8 and the Breds could only score one in the bottom of the stanza to lose by the 12-9 score.

Royce, Martin, Hill and Kendall each had three hits to lead the Breds, but the six errors were too much to overcome.

Saturday's game with Breds smarting from their first loss of the year with plans to bounce back against the Braves.

Grant County entered the contest having won only one time in five previous games.

Sophomore Nolan Brossart was the starter for the game for Coach Mac Whitaker.

Brossart went four innings giving up two runs, one earned, striking out three, walking none, hitting two batters and allowing three hits.

Harrison County led 3-2 when Brossart left the game after his stint.

The game remained 3-2 until the top of the sixth when Grant County iumped on Harrison

Death has lost its sting

ago, I met a man who said he saw a dead man raised to life.

The dead man's name was Bob and the man who told me about it said God had told him to go to Bob's house to pray.

He didn't know Bob had died until he got there, but since God had told him to pray, he figured he better do it. So, he asked Bob's wife if he could see him.

The man had seen death before, and Bob was dead. Even so, the man started praying because God had told him so. All of a sudden, Bob took a breath, or as the man described it, "He sucked all the air out of the room." After that, Bob wasn't dead anymore. I don't remember what happened next except the man told Bob he smelled bad and needed a shave. Then the man shaved his face all nice and tidy, slapped on some Brut aftershave and told Bob's wife to cancel the funeral arrangements.

To this day I don't know if that really happened. The man who told me is a

GRACE NOTES

Pentecostal preacher, and stuff like miracle healings and resurrections tend to happen when they're involved.

They tend to believe that a dead man can get up and walk. I'm not Pentecostal, but I do believe one instance where that happened before.

On Sunday the world will celebrate it.

Let me say right here that I love Easter — I love it more than Christmas. There's nothing about the holiday that makes me sad or nostalgic, no unmet expectations, no guilt over traditions that I've neglected to pass on to my children.

Just Cadbury Creme Eggs, jelly beans and the celebration of a oncedead man who got up and tomb and changed the world forever.

Here's something that I think about often: The Bible says that the same power that raised Jesus from death is the same power that is "at work for us who believe" (Ephesians 1:19).

Feel powerless? The same power that gave life to a dead man — three days worth of dead — is the same power that God uses on our behalf, in us, through us, for us, because of us. That power is what enables a person to have faith to begin with, to believe the most outlandish story that God stepped away from his throne in heaven to become a man by being born of a virgin, lived a perfect life, then took all the sins of humanity upon himself past, present and future - died a brutal death in their place, came back to life three days later, then 40 days after that returned to heaven where he had always lived.

It's resurrection power that changes a human heart, enables liars to stop lying, haters to stop hat-

Resurrection power breaks the power of sin, takes away the craving for revenge, the lust for attention and approval and the need for control.

Resurrection power has kept me from destroying people with my tongue. Many times I've wanted to annihilate someone and I open my mouth to curse and out pops kindness instead. That's power that isn't natural. It's supernatural and it's a gift.

Resurrection power turns sadness into celebration, makes the impossible possible. Hearts of stone turn soft and pliable. Insecure and fearful hearts find security and peace. Resurrection power turns God haters and the God indifferent into God worshipers and truth lovers. It changes the selfcentered to other-focused. Not all at once, but changed nonetheless.

removes the dreadful fear of death.

I used to be terrified of death (and almost as terrified of living). But somehow, for reasons God only knows, I was given the power and the grace to believe that a dead man came back to life. Because I believe, death has lost its sting for me.
